The Central Law Journal then quotes Chief Justice Beasley, of New Jersey, as follows in opposition to the contention of "imperfect obligation," whatever that might signify:

"I think it indisputable that the constitution has made the surrender of a fugitive from justice, which, by laws of nations, depended on the concessions of comity, a rule of law of perfect obligation and entirely imperative in character.

"He recognizes the limitation, however, on the Federal Government suggested by the case of Kentucky vs. Dennison, but states that this results entirely from the fact that the act of Congress which regulates these proceedings directs the demand to be made upon the Governor, and since the Governor is not a Federal officer, the Federal Government cannot compel the performance of a function which it has no right to annex to the office.

"But, says Chief Justice Beasley, 'I cannot entertain any doubt of the power of Congress to vest in any national officer the authority to arrest in any State a fugitive from justice of another State, to surrender such fugitive on the requisition of the Executive of the latter State. The national right to require the surrender under the terms of the Constitution seems to me to be clear, and all that is necessary to render such right enforceable in every case is the necessary organ of the Federal Government.'

"We believe the suggestion of Chief Justice Beasley is worthy of earnest consideration as the most effective solution of these unhappy and serious clashes of authority between the Governors of sister Commonwealths over the extradition of fugitives from justice. While in most cases we may confidently rely on the character of the men elected to such high places, it is to be denied that unscrupulous and hot-headed men, wielding the executive power of the State, having the opportunity in the exercise of this extraordinary power to throw open the doors of a sister Commonwealth to a flood of crime and disorder by granting an asylum to criminals and political exiles."

Believers are cited to the example of a suffering Christ, and to the will of God. In kindly irony they are reminded that if the Gentiles ever had any claim upon them, they have more than absolved themselves from that claim in the portion of their lives already given to sin. Finally, the approaching end of the world is used as a motive to sobriety, watchfulness and prayerfulness.

A Purgative Pleasure.
If you ever took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness or constipation you know what a purgative pleasure is. These famous little pills cleanse the liver and rid the system of all bile, with-

do not gripe, sicken or weaken, but give tone and strength to the tissues and organs involved. W. H. Howell, of Huston, Tex., says: "No better pill can be used than Little Early Risers for constipation, sick headache, etc." Sold by

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs.
 "Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hem-orrhages," writes A. M. Ake, of Wood Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's (Honey and Tar) and my lungs are now as sound as a bullet. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." J. H. Williams, Hartford, Ky.

A Republican's Views.
The Cincinnati Enquirer says:
Shirley Everton Johnson, the New York banker, a Republican, former Kentuckian, and just from Louisville the hot-bed of Kentucky politics at the present time, was at the Gibson House yesterday. When asked for an expression as to the probable result of the coming election in that State he said: "I am of the opinion that Beckham will be elected. Everything points in that direction. Colonel Belknap does not seem to suit the great majority of the people, and he can expect to poll but

Distress After Eating Cured.
Judge W. T. Holland, of Greensburg, La., who is well and favorably known says: "Two years ago I suffered greatly from indigestion. After eating, great distress would invariably result, lasting for an hour or so and my nights were restless. I concluded to try Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and it cured me entirely. Now my sleep is refreshing and digestion perfect." Sold by J. H. Williams.

HEALTHY WOMEN

Praise Pe-ru-na as a Cure and Preventative of Catarrhal Disorders.

Miss Elizabeth Ueber, No. 67 Basset street, Albany, N. Y., writes:

"I have always dreaded the possibility because of my extreme liability to catch cold, when catarrhs trouble would quickly develop through my entire system which would be very serious. I am now thankful to say that since I have taken Peruna, I do not have any reason to dread this any more. Last winter I was sure and cold, and I took Peruna and in a few days was completely cured and since that time, if I have been at all exposed to the cold and wet weather, I take a dose or two of Pe-ru-na and it throws out any hint of sickness from my system. I gladly endorse it."—Miss Elizabeth Ueber.

Mrs. Wm. Dewey, Saranac Lake, N. Y., is second cousin of Admiral Dewey. In a recent letter she says:

"Peruna is the most valuable of any remedy that I have ever used for coughs, colds, etc. I cheerfully recommend it as a certain cure. If used according to directions."—Mrs. Wm. Dewey.

Miss Rosa Gerbing, a popular society woman of Crown Point, Ind., writes:

"Last winter I took a long drive in the country and had got so tired and cold I caught a bad cold which settled on my lungs, and which I could not seem to shake off. I then purchased a great deal of Peruna for colds and catarrh and I bought a bottle to try. I am pleased that I did for it brought speedy relief. I am now well, my troubles and I consider this money well spent."

"You have found friend in me, and I not only advise her to use my friends, but have purchased several bottles to give to those without the means to buy, and I have noticed without exception that it has brought about a speedy cure wherever it has been used."—Miss Rosa Gerbing.

Dr. J. C. McLaughlin writes of catarrh as follows: "As soon as anyone is afflicted with the first symptoms of catching cold he should at once begin the use of Peruna according to directions on the bottle, and the cold is sure to pass away with only a few days' use of the medicine."

Unless this is done the cold is almost sure to end in the second stage of catarrh which is making so many lives miserable. If Peruna was taken every time one has a cold or cough chronic catarrh would be practically an unknown disease.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving us all the particulars of your case. We will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
